■ Market commentary

Equity markets traced a W-shaped path in July, as investors rapidly adjusted their expectations in response to news from the US and Europe. Anxiety grew at the start of July, with a particular focus on Spain, as several regions turned to the central government for financial aid. Yields on Spanish 10 year government bonds climbed to over 7.5% and, perhaps more worryingly (in light of the fact that much of the European Central Bank's (ECB) funding support to date has concentrated on the short end of government yield curves), two year borrowing rates approached 7%, double their level at the start of the year. Once more the appearance of these stresses triggered a response from policymakers. The key turning point was ECB President Mario Draghi's speech in London a few days before the month end, in which he dropped strong hints that the Central Bank was ready to intervene: "to the extent that the size of these sovereign premia hampers the functioning of the monetary policy transmission channel, they come within our mandate". Whilst no bond purchases have taken place to date, the stage is set for this eventuality in the near future. Global equities added 4.4% last month in euro terms, led by Asia Pacific excluding Japan. Investment grade corporate debt proved to be the sweet spot for fixed income investors on both sides of the Atlantic during July, as spreads narrowed by circa 25 basis points. Hard currency (US dollar denominated) emerging market bonds rallied by 7.6% to bring year to date returns to 17.7%. Post the month end, signs of a rebound in US jobs growth have helped to drive equity markets higher. The next few weeks will see investors continue to focus on events in the Eurozone, starting with the German constitutional court's hearing to approve the European Stability Mechanism (Europe's permanent bailout facility) in September, and the announcement of a bank supervisor to oversee a European banking union.

During what proved to be another volatile month for global equity markets, the Harmony EUR Balanced fund returned 3.6%, net of all fees, compared to a benchmark return of 3.5%. The contribution from asset allocation to relative performance was mixed. The fund was neutral to both local and global equity over the month and both of these areas posted positive absolute returns, with the MSCI Europe ex UK index returning 4.2% in euro terms. The fund's underweight to global government bonds aided relative performance as these assets underperformed equity markets, despite posting positive returns. One detractor from relative performance was the 2% underweight to global property securities, which returned 6.7% in euro terms. Overall, the Harmony EUR Balanced fund is positioned for a low (but positive) growth environment, and under these conditions the portfolio's underweight to government debt is expected to benefit performance through the cycle. Within the fixed income portion of the portfolio use is made of strategic, investment grade, convertible and high yield mandates. From a manager selection perspective, the Jupiter European Special Situations fund provided a notable bright spot over the month. The fund returned 6.0% in euro terms in July, to bring year to date returns to 12.4%. This compares favourably to the benchmark's returns of 4.2% and 8.6% respectively. The London based manager, Cedric de Fonclare, continues to favour quality companies with visible earnings growth and strong balance sheets. These holdings make up the core of Cedric's portfolio, while he attempts to capitalise selectively on more cyclical businesses which he believes are well placed to benefit from a revival in international growth. He continues to avoid areas with inherent regulatory risk, such as banks and utilities.
